Dear CIDE/CIDEC Community,

The Comparative, International and Development Education Centre (CIDE/CIDEC) is a research and graduate education centre at the Ontario Institute for Studies in Education (OISE) at the University of Toronto. CIDE/CIDEC’s mandate is to promote excellence, collaboration, and innovation in comparative international education research and teaching at OISE. During the 2016-2017 year, the CIDE/CIDEC community included 48 core and participating faculty members, four adjunct faculty, and five visiting scholars. CIDE/CIDEC is the institutional anchor for OISE’s popular collaborative degree program (now Specialization) in Comparative, International and Development Education (CIDE), which draws graduate students and faculty from seven programs at OISE. Approximately 150 graduate student researchers with an interest in international issues and comparative methodologies are affiliated with the Centre. The current report reflects CIDE/CIDEC and CIDE program activities and initiatives up to April 30, 2017.

This year, we are pleased to present an annual report that reflects the wide range of geographic and thematic research interests supported by CIDE/CIDEC. In breadth, this year’s CIDE/CIDEC research has taken us to Central Asia, Chile, China, Africa and Europe. Offshoots of the many research projects have resulted in a critical mass of publications (p. 25), clear evidence that CIDE/CIDEC brings momentum to international research on education at OISE through faculty, student and alumni research. The report also provides updates on several activities that are associated with our ongoing research initiatives including growing partnerships with several external research centres and agencies.

The CIDE Program and Centre were pleased to welcome one new participating faculty member to our community during the 2016-17 academic year. Dr. Sandra Styres joined OISE in January 2014 and teaches Language, Literacy and Curriculum in Aboriginal Education in several programs and is Chair of the Indigenous Education Network.

CIDE/CIDEC was once again privileged to host multiple comparative scholars from around the world at our 2016-17 Seminar Series including: Dr. Takbir Ali, from the Aga Khan University; Dr. Audrey Osler from University College of Southeast Norway and University of Leeds; Dr. Ajit Mohanty, Chief Adviser, National Multilingual Education Resource Consortium, Jawaharlal Nehru University, New Delhi; Carmen Montecinos, Alvaro Gonzalez, and Mauricio Pino, from Pontificia Universidad Católica de Valparaíso; Xavier Vanni, Juan Pablo Valenzuela and Cristián Bellei from the Center for Advanced Research in Education at the University of Chile; Professor Brahm Fleisch from the Wits School of Education, South Africa; and, Hanna Dumont, German Institute for International Educational Research, Berlin, among others. Our students also joined together for a day of presentations, at the annual CIDE hosted Joseph P. Farrell Student Research Symposium in February 2017, which showcased 12 CIDE students’ excellent work (p.20) from across departments and degrees. Vandra Masemann once again welcomed the CIDE community with commemorative opening remarks recalling the work of CIDE Co-Founder Joe Farrell.

Faculty and students affiliated with the Centre were an active presence at the annual conferences of the Comparative and International Education Society Canada (CIESC) in Calgary, June 2016 and the Comparative and International Education Society (CIES) in Atlanta, Georgia in March 2017. Just over 70 students, faculty and CIDE alumni associated with the Centre and Specialization participated in the conferences. We are proud to announce that a number of CIDE affiliated students, faculty and visiting scholars play leadership roles within CIES, including Carly Manion serving as Co-Chair of the CIES Gender and Education Committee (GEC); Norin Taj (PhD student) serving as secretary/treasurer for the GEC; Kara Janigan has been a member of the CIES New Scholars Committee executive for several years; Steve Bahry has been Programme Chair of the CIES Language Issues Special Interest Group (SIG) for several years, and was also Programme Chair for the Comparative and International Education Society of Canada (CIESC) 2014-2016, during which time 31 CIDE alumni, graduate students or faculty presented at CIESC at the University of Calgary (2016).

This report also features some of the key activities, publications and high level presentations of CIDE/CIDEC faculty, students, CIDE Students Association, and indeed some of our alumni who are doing excellent work in academia and development organizations within Canada and around the world. The CIDE/CIDEC community is particularly honoured and proud to announce the launch in February 2017 of the updated second edition of our text, Comparative and International Education: Issues for Teachers featuring updated and revised chapters, as well as three new chapters.

We hope and believe you will find this report comprehensive and educative of the broad scope and significance of CIDEC activities and contributions to the field of comparative and international education and to the development of new scholars with interests and commitments to this field in practice and in scholarly work.

Stephen Bahry - Visiting Scholar, Dates of Appointment: January 2011 – August 2017

Stephen Bahry received his doctorate in the Comparative, International and Development Education Program and Department of Curriculum, Teaching, and Learning at Ontario Institute for Studies in Education at the University of Toronto. His dissertation, Perspectives on quality in minority education in China: The case of Sunan Yughur Autonomous County, Gansu, was a multiple embedded case study of stakeholder perspectives on the place of local knowledge, and minority language and culture within quality education under conditions of minority language endangerment and curriculum reform.

Mary Catharine Lennon - Visiting Scholar, Dates of Appointment: March 1, 2017 – February 29, 2018

My work examines global trends in higher education management, policy and regulation, which supports policy learning, borrowing and the development of promising practices around the world. For example, my current work related to learning outcomes stems from a global survey of 330 quality assurance agencies, and the results are a comparative analysis of system level policies and regulatory techniques.

Santiago Rincón-Gallardo - Visiting Scholar, Dates of Appointment: September 2016- August 2017

Santiago Rincón-Gallardo is a Banting Postdoctoral Fellow at the Ontario Institute for Studies in Education and the Chief Research Officer at Michael Fullan’s international consulting team. In this position, he conducts research and advises system leaders and educators to advance whole system reform for instructional improvement. Santiago worked for over a decade promoting grassroots educational change initiatives in Mexican public schools serving historically marginalized communities. His academic work explores how effective pedagogies for deep learning can spread at scale. Santiago holds an Ed.M in International Education Policy and an Ed.D on Education Policy, Leadership and Instructional Practice from Harvard.

Malini Sivasubramaniam - Visiting Scholar, Dates of Appointment: November 2015 - August 2017

Malini Sivasubramaniam is a Visiting Scholar affiliated with the department of Leadership, Higher and Adult Education (LHAE). She completed her Ph.D. at the University of Toronto with a specialization in Comparative, International and Development Education. Her dissertation examines household decision-making in low-fee private schools in Kenya. Her research interests and current work include the privatization of education, school choice and equity for marginalized communities, and the role of faith-based non-state actors in education. She is also currently completing a co-edited book on “Religion and Education in Comparative and International Perspective”.

Kara Janigan - Visiting Scholar, Dates of Appointment: September 2013-December 2016

Kara Janigan is an Adjunct Professor at the Middlebury Institute of International Affairs at Monterey (MIIS). Kara has extensive experience researching gender issues in education in rural Eritrea (M.A. research) and rural Tajikistan (Ph.D. research). In 2009 Save the Children USA awarded Kara a Save-University Partnership for Education Research (SUPER) fellowship and funded her doctoral research. Kara has two published book chapters on gender and education and has developed an on-line course on gender and education for UNESCO/UN Women. She has also conducted evaluations within the education sectors of Bangladesh (for ABD) and Ethiopia (for DfID and UNICEF).
Over the past year CIDEC has engaged two Graduate Assistants. First, Wesley Galt was hired to provide support for the CIDEC project, "Professional Learning Networks in Action: Lessons from East Africa". Wesley's activities included assisting with project design, providing feedback on research instruments, data organization and data analysis.

Second, Norin Taj was hired to provide support for a number of CIDE/CIDEC-related activities, including, the production of the Fall 2016 and Spring 2017 newsletters, research in support of a proposed gender responsive pedagogy and schooling course with Continuing and Professional Learning (CPL), planning and organization of the annual Joseph P. Farrell Student Research Symposium, as well as assisting in the organization and chairing of several CIDE seminars. We sincerely the valuable contributions made by both of our GAs.

The Aga Khan Foundation Canada (AKFC) and Global Affairs Canada (GAC) sponsor the Strengthening Education Systems in East Africa (SESEA) project, a five-year primary education improvement initiative in East Africa (Kenya, Tanzania, and Uganda). A team of CIDE researchers led by Professor Steve Anderson was funded by the SESEA project to investigate the activities and outcomes of four professional learning networks (PLNs) created and supported by the Aga Khan Academy, Mombasa, Professional Development Centre (AKAM-PDC). The networks are extensions of in-service training programs for head teachers and classroom teachers in Kenya and include English teachers, mathematics teachers, and head teachers in Mombasa and Kwale Counties. The research team includes Steve Anderson (PI), two Research Associates (Carly Manion, Mary Drinkwater), and two Research Assistants (Joelle Rodway, Wesley Galt). Between March and September 2016 we conducted three site visits to Mombasa and a neighboring rural county (Kwale) to observe the PLNs in action, to interview members of all four PLNs, and to observe members of the mathematics and English language PLNs in the classroom. The final report from this study will be produced for end of June 2017.

Centro de Liderazgo para la Mejora Escolar, Project Lead: Stephen Anderson

CIDE is proud to have formalized a Memorandum of Understanding and an annual Service Contract as an International Partner with El Centro de Liderazgo para La Mejora Escolar, one of two national educational leadership centres funded by the Chilean government. The core OISE and CIDE team involved in this partnership include Professors Steve Anderson, Joseph Flessa, Carol Campbell and adjunct Professor Santiago Rincón-Gallardo. The activities of the Centro include professional capacity building programs for school principals and for education leaders at the intermediate level of education governance and services. Dr. Flessa participated as a keynote speaker at the inauguration of the Centro in April 2016, was involved in professional development activities for principals from schools linked to the Centro. Dr. Anderson was a keynote speaker in August at a seminar hosted by the Centro focused on the role of local education services (like school districts) in school improvement. This is a hot topic in Chile because of government proposals to de-municipalize the intermediate level of public school governance and to establish about 70 new "local education services" as part of a series of major education reforms. Professor Flessa also collaborated in a seminar and principal in-service education activities on behalf of the Centro’s work in Punta Arenas in Southern Chile. Drs. Anderson, Flessa and Rincón-Gallardo are collaborating in the planning of education leadership research with researchers from the Pontificia Universidad de Valparaiso and the Universidad de Chile who are key partners in the Centro de Liderazgo.

Education for All: Global Policies and Prospects: SSHRCC project 2010-2017 (funded for a total of $259,500 ending in 2016).

Ruth Hayhoe and Karen Mundy served as Co-PIs during the final year of this project. In addition to wrapping up this research, Ruth and Karen worked with Kathy Bickmore, Caroline Manion, and Robyn Read (a PhD student) to complete the second edition of our text, Comparative and International Education: Issues for Teachers. This second edition features 15 authors affiliated with OISE including current faculty, retired faculty, current students and recent graduates of the CIDE program. The book was presented at a book launch at the Annual Meeting of the Comparative and International Education Society in Atlanta on March 7, 2017.

Update: Reviving Canada-China Academic Relations through Connecting Past with the Present

This SSHRC-supported project (2011-2015) has been carried out with the purpose to explore a long-term impact of Canada-China university linkage programs, funded by CIDA from 1981 to the early 2000s, on the development of China’s higher education in the modern era. It is a qualitative research study led by Professor Ruth Hayhoe, Dr. Julia Pan and Professor Qiang Zha. The project has now come to a successful completion, with several papers published in refereed journals, as well as a book and two special journal issues.
As part of the project, a high profile conference entitled “Transforming Canada-China Cooperation: Significant Legacies and Future Challenges” was organized on May 9-10, 2014, at Tsinghua University in Beijing. Attended by about 200 scholars, educators and government officials from both Canada and China, the conference not only achieved its purpose of handing on the past legacy to the younger generation but also was an opportunity for universities from both Canada and China to revive their relations by exploring their potential for future partnerships. Clearly, many Chinese universities have developed significantly in recent years, and have a lot to contribute to international academic collaboration.

From the conference, a new book titled Canadian Universities in China’s Transformation: An Untold Story edited by Professor Ruth Hayhoe, Dr. Julia Pan and Professor Qiang Zha has been published with McGill Queens University Press, and a book launch was held on September 23 2016 at OISE. Two special issues of the journal Frontiers of Education in China, “Canada-China educational cooperation” and “Minority Studies in China”, came out in September of 2015 and December of 2016 respectively. The conference website has become a permanent historical archive, with all the powerpoints presented in plenary sessions and many presented in concurrent sessions mounted there and available to the public. (Click here for further details).

Reciprocal Learning in Teacher Education Between Canada and China, SSHRCC Partnership Grant, (3 million dollars, 2013-2020), co-directed by Shijing Xu, University of Windsor and Michael Connelly, OISE.

Ruth Hayhoe is a co-applicant in the project, and did a keynote lecture for the project’s annual meeting and international conference at Southwest University in Chongqing in April of 2016. In addition Ruth has been providing guidance to two of the Graduate assistants at OISE working on the project. Leo Huang Xuefeng defended his doctoral thesis successfully in August of 2016, under the supervision of Steve Anderson, and Yishin Khoo is preparing her thesis for defence before too long. These two scholars, plus a teacher in one of the Toronto partner schools and a doctoral student doing research in one of the Shanghai partner schools made a panel presentation on the partnership at the Comparative International Education Society’s Annual Meeting in Atlanta George in March of 2017, and the papers presented will be included in a special issue of Frontiers of Education in China planned for September of 2017.

China, India and the Challenge to Canada’s ‘Diplomacy of Knowledge’: A Comparative Study of the Internationalization of Higher Education, SSHRCC Insight development grant, $71,275.00 for two years, 2014-2016.

Professor Sheila Embleton at York University is PI of this project, and Ruth Hayhoe serves as a co-I along with Professors Roopa Trilokekar and Qiang Zha at York. In this role Ruth supervised two graduate assistants working on the Chinese side of the project, one at OISE and one at York, arranged for the renewal of the ethical review process at University of Toronto (which is more demanding than at York University), and gave advice and guidance on the comparative analysis which is being developed. Ruth has also been helping to develop the two case studies of Chinese universities and did a total of 14 interviews, 6 at Wuhan University, 6 at Tianjin University and two with MOE officials in Beijing, in May of 2015. Ruth cooperated with Qiang Zha in carrying out the interviews and took responsibility for interpretation and writing up of all interview notes in English (the interviews were largely carried out in Chinese). Research findings were presented at the 60th and 61st CIES Annual Conferences in Vancouver and Atlanta respectively. A new proposal for a full Insight Grant has been developed and submitted, based on what was learned in the Insight Development Grant. An international video conference with the Chinese partners from Wuhan University and Tianjin University was organized and held by the project team in February of 2017.

Canada-Afghanistan/Eurasia Education Research Group Research Team: Dr. Sarfaroz Niyozov, Dr. Stephen Bahry and CIDE students: Spogmai Akseer, Rahat Zhodolshalieva, Serhiy Kovalchuk.

The CIDEC Afghanistan-Eurasia Research Group has continued its work on this region, focused on quality education for peace and equity, in a highly diverse region amidst enormous social, cultural, linguistic, religious, economic and political challenges. CIDEC professor, Dr. Sarfaroz Niyozov, is on leave at Institute of Educational
Dr. Stephen Bahry, is working on the intersection of language and critical education research, including a recent chapter on ‘quality’ education and ‘development’ of minority nationalities in northwestern China, macro- and micro-level analyses of implications for quality education of societal multilingualism and personal plurilingualism in Central Asia, and a co-written chapter comparing the potential for Multilingual Education in China, Central Asia and Iran, followed by participated a CIDE-CERLL co-organized panel discussion book launch in Dec. 2016 for Kalan’s book, Who’s Afraid of Multilingual Education. Dr. Bahry has, with Dr. Niyozov, CIDE’ alumnus, Duishon Shamatov, of Nazarbayev University, Kazakhstan, and Elise Ahn and Juldyz Smagulova of KIMEP University, Kazakhstan, substantially updated a chapter on bilingual and multilingual education in Central Asia, and also has a chapter on language, globalization and education in Central Asia in Niyozov and Silova (forthcoming, 2017), and is working with Dr. Shamatov on interaction of language and quality education in Central Asia using evidence from Kazakhstan and Kyrgyzstan PISA results. Dr. Bahry is also working on language, literacy and equitable education in Ukraine, presented at CIS 2016, CIESC, 2016, University of Alberta’s Research Initiative on Democratic Reform in Ukraine (RIDRU) in October & December 2016, and comparing geographic disparities in high stakes literacy test results in Ukraine and Toronto at CIES 2017. Dr. Bahry also presented in China, comparing northwest China’s minority groups’ educational attainment at WCCES, Aug 2016, and, at an International Seminar on China’s Minority Nationality Education Development in the Context of China’s “One Belt, One Road” New Silk Road Strategy at Ningxia University, October 2017.

2016-2020 More Than "Just Good Teaching": Mainstream Teacher Education for Supporting English Learners and Teacher Education Policy in Ontario. Project Staff: Jeff Bale (principal investigator), Antoinette Gagné, Julie Kerekes (co-investigators), Mama Adobea Nii Owoo and Yulia Smirnova (GAs). Funding and Duration: Notification of SSHRC funding for this study was received in the Spring of 2017.

Focus: This study has two objectives: (1) to determine whether Ontario’s teacher education policy is consistent with the diversity, strengths, and needs of English learners; and (2) to clarify how teacher candidates, teacher educators, practicing teachers, and subject consultants in local boards interpret and enact Ontario’s new policy requirement. To address Objective 1, we will use a participatory action research design to collaborate with 20 elementary- and secondary-aged English learners in Ontario. We will create multimedia profiles that present their full linguistic repertoires, their beliefs and attitudes about the languages they speak (including English), and what needs they have at home, in the community, and at school to maintain their languages. To address Objective 2, we will conduct a three-year ethnographic case study of one teacher education program and its new required course, "Supporting English Language Learners." We will supplement analysis of this program with a survey of teacher educators in the 15 other teacher education programs in Ontario, in terms of their programs’ responses to the new policy.

2013-2016 Action Research in Teacher Education - The Action Research Initiative & Network @ UPLA and Beyond. Project staff: Antoinette Gagné (Principal Investigator), Marlon Valencia, Yecid Ortega, Danielle Freitas, Heejin Song, (GAs)

Focus: This research and development (R&D) initiative at the University of Playa Ancha (UPLA) in Chile is focused on supporting action research among professors, teacher educators, school partners, and university students. The goal is the creation of a culture of research among discipline-focussed university professors, teacher educators, and school partners working in collaborative inquiry groups. Each group is linked to an international critical friend with similar interests. The ARC/SIA bilingual website http://wordpress.oise.utoronto.ca/arc/ and the Pepper learning environment support this R&D initiative by providing virtual spaces for various types of collaboration. “Translanguaging” is the norm in these virtual spaces and this allows English and Spanish participants to access both the material and human resources. This initiative is connected to the 2013-2016 Institutional Improvement Plan for Teacher Education at UPLA and curriculum renewal in teacher education in particular, at Playa Ancha University in Valparaiso and San Felipe, Chile. The Action Research Initiative has now expanded and includes partners in Colombia, Canada, Ecuador, the EU, Tanzania and Sri Lanka.

Peace-Building Citizenship Learning in Comparative Contexts affected by Violence: School Connections with Life Experience in Mexico, Canada, Bangladesh and Colombia

PI – Kathy Bickmore Insight Grant, Social Sciences and Humanities Research Council of Canada, CAD $417,901, 2013 - ongoing

How might peace-building education in school respond to the actual life experiences of young people suffering from violence in marginalized communities? The ways young people experience conflict, diversity, dissent, authority, and status competition continually shape the roles, models, and enacted understandings that make up their lived curriculum of citizenship. A six year research project, funded by the Social Sciences and Humanities Research Council of Canada, is examining how teaching and learning activities in schools might contribute to (or impede) tangible peace-building citizenship consequences in the lives of students and, conversely, how the lived concerns and social participation experiences of young people might be engaged to improve the relevance and democratic power of school-based teaching and learning activities. Specifically, in purposively chosen upper elementary and intermediate public schools in urban communities experiencing violence—in Ontario Canada, Guanajuato Mexico, 2 cities in Bangladesh, and Bogotá Colombia—the research elicits (age 10-15) young people’s experiential understandings of social conflict and violence problems, their causes, and what they think individuals, communities and social institutions can do about them. Based on anonymous summaries of initial student focus group findings, and analyses of relevant learning opportunities embedded in curriculum mandate documents, a set of teachers in each school participate in a series of additional focus group discussions, to interpret, discuss, and generate ideas for pedagogy and programming that more adequately build upon their diverse students’ lived experiences of social conflict and citizenship, to support learning and practice for democratic, just, sustainable peace.

New Initiatives Funding Update

One of the aims of the New Initiatives Funding proposal was to strengthen and develop collaboration with external agencies involved in comparative and international education research and development. Over the past year we have extended collaboration with the University of Western Ontario’s RICE group and developed new and emerging collaborative relationships with research centres at three other universities outside of Canada in the U.S., China and Chile as described below. We have continued to build our relationship the United Nations Girls in Education Initiative (UNGEI) also described below.

A) United Nations Girls’ Education Initiative (UNGEI)

In July 2014, CIDEC became the first-ever academic member of the United Nations Girls’ Education Initiative’s (UNGEI) Global Advisory Committee (GAC). The UNGEI GAC participates in planning, decision-making and accountability processes. Launched subsequent to the 2000 Dakar World Education Forum, UNGEI represents a transnational multilateral girls’ education initiative that focuses on developing public-private partnerships towards promoting the principles of efficiency and effectiveness in girls’ education programming, donor harmonization and coordination.

Carly Manion is our institutional representative on the UNGEI GAC and Ph.D. student, Norin Taj, is the alternate. The UNGEI GAC meets twice annually to review, identify, discuss and strategize priority issues and future programming. Over the past year, Carly and Norin have participated in a series of conference call meetings about UNGEI policy and advocacy work. CIDEC is currently one of the members of a smaller planning taskforce that is drafting UNGEI’s next strategic plan of action, which will be presented to the larger UNGEI GAC at our annual meeting in June. CIDEC’s work with the UNGEI GAC has been beneficial to us in a number of ways: it provides students with a chance to get involved in gender and education policy advocacy and learn new skills; as a member of the GAC, CIDEC has gained an increased international profile and; we have been able to forge new professional relationships with other academic, policy and civil society actors.

B) Centro de Liderazgo para la Mejora Escolar, Pontificia Universidad Católica de Valparaíso (PUCV) in collaboration with Universidad de Chile, Universidad de Concepción, and Fundación Chile.

In 2015 the government of Chile announced a competition to establish two educational leadership centres (one for the Northern and one for the Southern half of the country) with both education leadership research and development mandates. Joe Flessa and Steve Anderson were invited to participate in a proposal led by the Pontificia Universidad Católica de Valparaíso (PUCV) in collaboration with Universidad de Chile, Universidad de Concepción, and Fundación Chile y el Ontario Institute for Educational Studies. The proposal involved the official designation of OISE through CIDEC as the international partner in this Centro. We involved Carol Campbell and Santiago Rincón-Gallardo as members of the OISE team for the proposal. The proposal was successful and the Centro was launched in 2016 with headquarters in Valparaiso, Chile. ACIDEC has signed a formal memorandum of agreement for the OISE partnership in this Centro. We involved Carol Campbell and Santiago Rincón-Gallardo as members of the OISE team for the proposal. The proposal was successful and the Centro was launched in 2016 with headquarters in Valparaiso, Chile. ACIDEC has signed a formal memorandum of agreement for the OISE partnership in this Centro. The initial contract from the Chilean government is for five years. The budget includes approximately $25,000 per year to support the international partnership, with an annual sub-contract to transfer a portion of those funds to CIDEC. Professors Flessa and Anderson made three trips to Chile in 2016 to collaborate in different streams of the Centro’s activity. This included the delivery of three keynote addresses at regional seminars and collaboration in leadership development activities.

C) Developing a CIDEC-Continuing and Professional Learning Course

We have begun work on proposing and developing a Continuing and Professional Learning (CPL) course on gender responsive pedagogy and schooling, with the intent to be delivered in 2018 by Carly Manion. This course intersects with Dr. Manion’s professional expertise in this topic and with her appointment as CIDEC liaison to the United Nations Gender and Education Initiative described in section C of this report.
D) CIDE collaboration with Midaynta Community Services

Collaboration of Midaynta Community Services with CIDE began with a meeting between its Executive Director, Mahad Yusuf, CIDE Co-director Sarfaroz Niyozov and Visiting Scholar, Stephen Bahry with the OISE Dean, Prof. Julia O’Sullivan in 2014, about the need for greater collaboration between communities, community agencies and educational researchers in dealing with the many challenges of immigrant settlement and its aftermath, and in particular challenges facing marginalized communities, such as those who arrived here fleeing from conflict. After getting the Dean’s support, Prof. Niyozov, a team of his graduate students, and Dr. Bahry collaborated in planning a two-day conference, Youth “Radicalization” Policy and Education Conference, which took place at OISE Feb 12-13, 2015, and was designed to bring together multiple stakeholders from the community, community organisations, education, security, government and academic researchers and others. While Prof. Niyozov is on leave Stephen Bahry, CIDE Visiting Scholar, has been requested to act as liaison between Midaynta and CIDE/OISE. Dr. Bahry, Mahad Yusuf and Midaynta staff have had productive discussions with several CIDE/OISE faculty concerning applications of their research to Midaynta’s activities, which include in addition to settlement services, youth outreach work, and implementation of two new projects funded by Ministry of Children and Youth Services: Rites of Passage Youth Mentorship Program, a culturally relevant and responsive mentorship program aimed at supporting the positive development and success of African Canadian youth ages 12-16, who face multiple barriers to success and reside in the Northwest Toronto; and, Project Turn Around, a holistic, culturally appropriate and responsive community-based gang prevention and intervention program serving youth ages 12-20, and their families in the Northwest areas of Toronto.

More recently, Midaynta with the support of CIDE/OISE/UT a follow up conference, Youth Radicalization: New and Emerging Challenges Conference held from November 16th to 17th 2016 at Munk School of Global Affairs at University of Toronto (U of T). Three CIDE graduate students, Shirleen Datt, Joel Mukwedeya, and Amna Sheikh, are now doing their CIDE practicum at Midaynta (Dr. Manion is the faculty supervisor for each), working on analyzing and summarizing materials from the 2016 conference for the conference report to be issued in April 2017. Midaynta has been very appreciative of support from CIDE and OISE/UT: Stephen Bahry was presented with an award acknowledging his volunteer work at their Annual General Meeting in February, while Executive Director, Mahad Yusuf came to OISE/UT to present Prof Stephen Anderson, CIDE Director, and OISE Dean Glen Jones with a plaque of appreciation for their support of Midaynta’s work liaising among the community and other concerned stakeholder groups.

Teachers InCIDE

Teachers InCIDE is a group of graduate students and professors from different departments at OISE who share an interest in teacher education, teacher development/learning, and comparative, international and development education. We meet twice a month at OISE. During our meetings, we share updates about our research, lives, thesis works/progress; discuss common issues of interest; exchange resources; and learn from each other.

Antoinette Gagne is the 2014-16 Faculty sponsor of the Teacher InCIDE Special Interest Group.

Latin America Study Group/ (GELO-Grupo de Estudio Latinoamericano de OISE)

This is a group of faculty and students who have both scholarly and practical experience and interest in education in the Latin American context. The group meets during the regular academic year every three weeks to read and discussion articles (journal articles, technical reports, media reports, etc.) in Spanish that are concerned with education issues, policies and practices across Latin America and within specific countries. During the 2014-2015 academic year the group included masters and doctoral students from Chile, Peru, Colombia, Ecuador and Mexico, and faculty who have done research and consulting work in Chile, Mexico, Ecuador and Colombia.

The 2017 Conference Theme was, "Problematising (In)equality: The Promise of Comparative and International Education". Every year, the annual CIES meeting draws a large number of faculty and students from OISE, particularly those associated with the CIDE collaborative program. This year was no exception and we’re pleased to say that we had just under 40 individuals from OISE participating at CIES 2017. While all of these individuals presented papers, several were also involved in organizing conference-related activities in their roles as chairs of Standing Committees (SCs) and Special Interest Groups (SIGs). Here we mention Stephen Bahry, chair of the Language Issues SIG; Kara Janigan, for her involvement as former chair of the New Scholars Committee and Carly Manion, outgoing co-chair of the Gender and Education SC. OISE/CIDE Ph.D. student, Norin Taj, is currently serving as Secretary-Treasurer for the Gender and Education SC.

Books

Kathy Bickmore is a Professor of Curriculum, Teaching, and Learning at the Ontario Institute for Studies in Education (OISE).
Ruth Hayhoe is a Professor of Comparative Higher Education at OISE.
Caroline Manion is Assistant Professor, Teaching Stream, of Comparative, International, and Development Education at OISE.
Karen Mundy is a Professor of Comparative, International, and Development Education at OISE.
Robyn Read is a doctoral student at OISE.

With a stronger focus on the teacher’s role and emerging alternative pedagogies in diverse settings, this thoroughly updated second edition draws on research by scholars from the Americas, Australia, Africa, Asia, Europe, and the Middle East. Comparative and International Education offers an overview of the history of comparative education and educational development, exploring issues related to social justice, human rights, gender equality, and Indigenous knowledge in the classroom. Appropriate for use in undergraduate and graduate education courses, this edited collection will help students better understand how globalization has impacted the classroom and led to the internationalization of schooling.

Negotiating Identities: Anglophones Living and teaching in Quebec
Diane Gérin-Lajoie, University of Toronto Press 2016, has a new book with the University of Toronto Press based on three year investigation of teachers in Quebec’s English language school system. As members of an official linguistic minority in Canada, Anglophone teachers living and working in Quebec have a distinct experience of the relationship between language and identity. In Negotiating Identities, professor Gérin-Lajoie uses a critical sociological framework to explore the life stories of Quebec’s Anglophone teachers, providing a unique account of how they make sense of their lives as residents and teachers in Quebec.

Revolutionary Learning
Marxism, Feminism and Knowledge
Sara Carpenter and Shahrzad Mojab

Revolutionary Learning explores the Marxist and feminist theorisation of dialectics, praxis and consciousness in education and learning. Moving beyond previous books on Marxism and education, this ground-breaking text explores the core philosophical concepts that build a Marxist analysis of learning, extending its critique with significant implications for critical education scholarship, research and practice by drawing upon work by feminist, anti-racist and anti-colonial scholars. The authors reconsider the contributions of Marx, Gramsci and Freire to educational theory from a feminist perspective, moving Marxist analysis of education into a more complex relation to patriarchal and imperialist capitalism.

CIDEQ ANNUAL REPORT 2016-2017
Invited Academic Lectures

China in the Centre: What will it mean for Global Education? The World Congress of Comparative Education at Beijing Normal University, August 24, 2016.

This presentation began by reflecting on the significance of the 16th World Congress of Comparative Education being held at Beijing Normal University. Part One focused on China’s experience in educational development since the late 1970s, and the support provided by organizations such as the World Bank and the Canadian International Development Agency, which facilitated the rapid restoration of universities after the Cultural Revolution and dramatic progress in modernization. Part Two went on to profile China’s rich educational civilization, suggesting that the normal university is uniquely suited to bringing that to a wider world. Part Three overviewed China’s programs of support for educational development in Africa and Southeast Asia, and suggested that these embody forms of dialogue and reciprocity that have the potential to open up refreshingly new approaches to educational thought and practice globally.

Faculty Awards and Distinctions

The winner of the 2016 CCGSE Mentorship Award was Dr. Antoinette Gagné of Ontario Institute for Studies in Education. It was a very tough competition with 15 nominees. OISE had three doctoral students recognized with CATE dissertation awards this year. Two of them had worked under Dr. Gagné’s supervision (https://sites.google.com/site/cssecate/awards).

This again shows how exceptional she is!!

Student/Alumni Awards

Aamir Taiyeb - OGS Award
His research focuses on investigating the appropriate model of higher education governance in the context of Pakistan, and seeks to answer the following question: to what extent do broader public sector governance and regulatory arrangements have an impact on the outputs (access, quality and equity) of the Pakistani higher education system?

His research focuses on the outcomes of international student recruitment in Ontario’s higher educational institutions. Ellis is a PhD Candidate in the department of Leadership, Higher and Adult Education (and Comparative, International & Development Education Collaborative Program) at Ontario Institute for Studies in Education, University of Toronto (OISE/UT).

CIDE STUDENT ASSOCIATION ANNUAL REPORT (2016-2017)

The Comparative, International and Development Education Students’ Association (CIDESA) is the Student Association of the Comparative, International and Development Education Centre (CIDEC). The CIDESA Core Committee—the Executive of the CIDESA—is tasked with the responsibility of representing the diverse interests of members of the CIDE community, organizing events and social gatherings for the purposes of community building, and facilitating/partaking in other professional development activities. All of this is done with the broader aim of enhancing student experience and assisting with the day-to-day functioning of the Centre.

The CIDESA was engaged in a wide range of activities over the 2016-2017 Academic Year. The year commenced in earnest with several of our members participating in the annual meeting of the Comparative and International Education Society of Canada (CIESC). Organized under the umbrella of the 44th Annual Conference of the Canadian Society for the Study of Education (CSSE), the meeting was held on the beautiful grounds of the University of Calgary campus in Alberta, Canada, from 27 May to 1 June 2016.

Further along in the summer, several of our members were selected to participate in the 16th World Congress of Comparative Education Societies. Organized around the theme, “Dialectics of Education: Comparative Perspectives”, the proceedings were hosted at the prestigious Beijing Normal University in Beijing, China, from 22-26 August 2016. Amongst the distinguished lineup of speakers at the opening ceremony was the Minister of Education of the People’s Republic of China, Mr. Chen Baosheng. The Congress provided a wonderful opportunity for members of our community to interact with a truly international gathering of scholars and practitioners within the field of Comparative and International Education, and was truly a wonderful success. We very much look forward to the 17th World Congress of the WCCES which will be held in Cancun, Mexico, from 20-24 May 2019. (To the right, I am pictured with several colleagues from the Central Institute of Education from the University of Delhi in the Republic of India. Pictured above [from left to right] are Dr. Stephen Bahry, Dr. Jian Liu, Oleg Legusov, Dr. Phirim Leng and Myself)
Throughout the Fall 2016 Session, the CIDESA was able to successfully organize two social gatherings in which a dinner buffet and snacks were provided to the CIDE/OISE community. The first was held in early October to mark the start of the new academic year and welcome both new and returning students/researchers. And the second was an End of Term celebration organized in late November (see picture to immediate left). In addition, on 15 November 2016, the CIDESA organized a film night entitled, “Trauma, Memory and the Silenced Event: Revisiting the Partition of the Indian Subcontinent”. The event showcased some of the research being conducted in the field of peace and human rights education, and encompassed a brief presentation followed by the screening of the full-length feature film: “Khamosh Pani” (Silent Waters). Set in the rural Pakistan portion of Punjab in the late 1970s, the film sought to take up questions pertaining to religious extremism, patriarchy, modernity, authoritarianism, violence, and the birth of the modern nation-state. In so doing it foregrounded the legacy of the horrific events of 1946-1948 in which nearly 2 million people were killed (and nearly 16 million displaced) as a result of the Partition of the Indian Subcontinent.

In the Winter 2017 term, the CIDESA assisted in the coordination of the Annual Joseph P. Farrell Student Research Symposium in which 09 CIDE Students offered presentations on their research. Shortly thereafter, CIDEC sent a reasonably large delegation to the 61st Annual Conference of the Comparative and International Education Society, which was held in Atlanta, Georgia from March 5-9, 2017. The picture to the immediate left is taken prior to a meal during the CIES meet in Atlanta. It includes (from right to left): Hayfa Jafar, Dr. Malini Sivasubramaniam, Dr. Annette Ford, Professor Ruth Hayhoe, Momina Afridi, Dr. Olivier Bégin-Caouette, Emma Sabzalieva, Hantian Wu and Myself.

To conclude quite an eventful year, a call for nominations for the 2017-2018 CIDESA Core Committee was circulated over a two-week period from March 13-27, 2017. As a total of five nominations were received, the following members were acclaimed: Alaa Ahmed, Ayan Duale Jama, Labib Malik, Shukri Hilowle and Yecid Ortega. I would like to wish them all the very best in their endeavors as they assume their positions in September 2017.

I would also like to take this moment to thank the outgoing members of the 2016-2017 CIDESA Core Committee—(pictured at top from Right to Left) Everton Ellis, Teodora Ajanovska–Gligorova, Norin Taj, Diana Barrero, Yecid Ortega (in purple), and Ramesh Pokharel—for all of their efforts. And many thanks to the Director of the Centre, Professor Stephen Anderson (pictured center), for all of his warmth and generosity.

Most Sincerely,
Umesh Sharma, Ph.D. Student,
2016-2017 CIDESA Chair
