

How to transfer from OISEnet/FirstClass Home Page to HomeSpace's My Website

Transferring Files from OISENet to HomeSpace:

Many of you have published small sites for your personal bios or links and resources for your courses. You can continue to do so in HomeSpace. If you have a website in OISENet and the information has not changed, you may copy the files from the Home Page folder in OISENet to your hard drive and then copy the same files into the My Website folder in HomeSpace.

Quota: 500 MB (My Documents + My Webspace)

HomeSpace replaces OISENet's (First Class) Home Page Folder. If you created your own personal web pages in the past, this was the place where you would drag the web page folders, files and associated documents so they could be published online.

Web address

Your old OISEnet URL was: <http://home.oise.utoronto.ca/~jsmith>.

Drag all your web files (ready to publish) into HomeSpace's My Website folder.

When you do this, the page will be published at your new homespace URL:
<http://webspace.oise.utoronto.ca/~yourutorid/>
