

Assistant Professor, Teaching Stream – Educational Leadership & Policy in International Contexts (Limited Term Appointment, at 75% FTE)

The Department of Leadership, Higher and Adult Education (LHAE) at the Ontario Institute for Studies in Education (OISE), University of Toronto invites applications for a one-year, limited term part-time faculty appointment at 75% FTE, at the rank of Assistant Professor, Teaching Stream with expertise in Educational Leadership and Policy in International Contexts. The appointment will begin on September 1, 2021 and end on August 31, 2022, with a possibility of renewal.

We are looking for a teaching and program coordination-focused scholar with demonstrated expertise and graduate teaching experience in the field of educational leadership and policy in international contexts.

Required qualifications:

A doctoral degree by the time of appointment or shortly thereafter in Educational Leadership and Policy or Comparative and International Education. University teaching experience at the graduate level in educational leadership and policy in international contexts, including lecture preparation/delivery, development of online material/lectures, and program administration. Demonstrated scholarly expertise in educational leadership and policy in international contexts as evidenced through a publication record, or forthcoming publications. Demonstrated excellence in university teaching, as evidenced through teaching accomplishments, strong letters of reference, and a teaching dossier (including a teaching statement, sample syllabi and course materials, and teaching evaluations) submitted as part of the application. Demonstrated commitment to excellent pedagogical practice.

Desired qualifications:

Teaching and/or scholarly strengths in one or more of the following areas: global governance, literature reviews, and other leadership and policy-related topics.

During the term of this part-time position, the successful candidate will be expected to teach graduate courses in the above-mentioned areas, advise master's students, and engage in departmental service, including coordinating the EdD program in International Educational Leadership and Policy.

Salary will be commensurate with qualifications and experience.
