THE CENTRE FOR URBAN SCHOOLING

Established in 2005, the Centre for Urban Schooling (CUS) is dedicated to improving the quality of the teaching and learning experiences available to children and youth living in underserved urban communities. The Centre for Urban Schooling conducts research, offers educational programs and professional development opportunities, and supports students, teachers and their communities to develop school reform initiatives with a focus on equity for all students. With more than twenty affiliated professors and researchers from OISE's departments, CUS is quickly gaining recognition as Canada's leading research and programming centre in issues of urban education.

WILLIAM WATERS

William R. (Bill) Waters is a professor emeritus of economics and finance at the Joseph L. Rotman School of Management of the University of Toronto. He was educated at the University of Toronto and the University of Chicago and joined the faculty of the University of Toronto in 1964. In addition to his teaching, he served as associate dean and director of the Executive MBA Program and as a member of the Presidential Investment Advisory Committee.

He received his PhD in economics and finance from the University of Chicago and an honorary Doctorate of Laws from the University of Toronto for his efforts in enabling disadvantaged students to succeed in higher education.

Outside the University, he has appeared on many occasions as an expert witness before regulatory boards and courts across Canada and abroad, mostly on financial matters relating to public utilities. He was also the co-founder of two companies involved in the creation of software for the financial services industry.

OISE

OISE is an international leader in the research, teaching and study of issues that matter in education. For the past century, our institution has transformed education through teacher preparation, research, graduate studies and leadership in educational policy and practice around the world. Our commitment is to ensure the synergy between theory and practice continues to grow.

Our community of students, faculty, staff, alumni and friends has the breadth, depth and resources to make a difference to a world where education is at the centre of Canada's ability to compete economically, to create social cohesion, and to provide the opportunities people need to make a difference.
