Dr. David Philpott (Faculty of Education, Memorial University Newfoundland and Labrador) and Jane Bertrand (Margaret and Wallace McCain Family Foundation) invite you to take part in a review of a presentation based on a recent study on the intersection of early childhood education and special education needs that was funded by the Margaret and Wallace McCain Family Foundation. The study will be featured in a special issue of Exceptionality Education International and is included in Early Years Study 4 that will be launched in early 2020.

Jane and David have prepared a presentation intended to be a resource available to early childhood, early intervention and special education practitioners, postsecondary education faculty, ECE and special education sector leaders. Their intention is to unite the two disciplines and create a conversation on the preemptive nature of ECE on SEN and encourage further research.

The 1.5 hour presentation will be followed by a discussion intended to critique the format and content of the presentation. The Hon. Margaret Norrie McCain will offer closing remarks that will be followed by lunch.
