#CIARSinConvo

Wednesday, September 23, 2020

Co-moderated by: Julie Usih
Julie Usih, HBA (She, her) is a Master’s candidate at the University of Toronto (UofT) in the Department of Social Justice Education at the Ontario Institute for Studies in Education (OISE). She recently completed an Honors Bachelors of Arts in Political Science and a double minor in History and Equity Studies at U of T. Julie is currently a Graduate Coordinator of the Centre for Integrative Anti-Racism Studies (CIARS) at OISE. In 2019, Julie worked as a research assistant at the Centre of Urban Health Solutions within St. Michael’s Hospital to assess the training of Peer Researcher’s living with HIV. Julie’s research interests include transnational and diaspora culture studies, Black radical traditions, and community-building through the lens of African-Indigenous philosophy.

#CIARSSinConvo