SOCIAL JUSTICE EDUCATION, OISE U OF T P.H.D STUDENT AND CIARS COORDINATOR
Marycarmen Lara Villanueva is a Mexican-born motherscholar based in Toronto. She is a PhD student in the Social Justice Education department at the Ontario Institute for Studies in Education. Her research explores anti-Black racism in Mexico and how this is produced and learned in elementary schools. Her previous work looked at the intersection of race and gender in education and white women teachers' complicity in reproducing racism in Canadian classrooms. Marycarmen is also a community organizer with extensive experience doing anti-oppressive work with parents. She is also one of the coordinators at the Centre for Integrative anti-Racism Studies (CIARS).
