

Dr. Tony Di Petta

Dr. Tony Di Petta's research interests focus on ways to understand, describe and humanize the interface of person and machine in the use of Information and Communication Technologies (ICT) in education. His PhD thesis investigated the policy development process associated with integrating ICT in a higher education setting and his research record reflects a focus on the pedagogical, social and cultural issues associated with teaching and learning in technology supported educational environments. A career educator Dr. DiPetta has experience as a secondary school teacher, an industrial trainer, an online teacher social network manager and is currently an associate professor and Director of the Centre for Continuing Teacher Education at Brock University in St. Catharines, Ontario; Canada. He may be contacted by e-mail at: tony.dipetta@brocku.ca