GRADUATE STUDIES IN EDUCATION
TEACHER EDUCATION

EVELYNE KIIZA
MEd 2020 / APHD
I was hungry for language to describe settler-colonialism and how it relates to my queer, two-spirit and trans Indigenous community. I was also eager to see how leading scholars were applying anti-racist education in a variety of contexts to create positive change.

OISE’s Department of Social Justice Education was one of few places I found where I could engage in all of these intellectual projects at once.

MARIE LAING
MA 2018 / SJE
Youth Leader at the Native Youth Sexual Health Network

Highlighting Indigenous resistance is an important part of combating racism, Laing explained. “By focusing on the leadership demonstrated by Indigenous communities in our various acts of resistance to ongoing settler-colonialism, we can ourselves resist the racist narratives about our communities which are offered by dominant society—while at the same time learning new strategies for collective resistance.”

IGNITE YOUR POSSIBILITIES

Named the top School of Education in Canada and fifth in the world, OISE’s diverse community of innovators, collaborators and leaders has been advancing education, human development and professional practice worldwide for over 100 years.

We ignite possibilities by putting award-winning faculty, top researchers and bright, passionate students together with world-class resources, a tradition of excellence and a rich network of collaborators.

FOUR PATHS, ONE JOURNEY

APPLIED PSYCHOLOGY AND HUMAN DEVELOPMENT (APHD)
The Department of Applied Psychology and Human Development offers five programs that focus on basic and applied research in the areas of human development, clinical and counselling psychology, educational psychology, special education and teaching.

LEADERSHIP, HIGHER AND ADULT EDUCATION (LHAE)
The Department of Leadership, Higher and Adult Education offers three programs: Adult Education and Community Development, Educational Leadership and Policy, and Higher Education. The programs focus on education as it occurs at the elementary, secondary, higher and adult education levels.

CURRICULUM, TEACHING AND LEARNING (CTL)
The Department of Curriculum, Teaching and Learning is the largest department at OISE and is home to three programs: Curriculum and Pedagogy, Language and Literacies Education, and Teaching.

SOCIAL JUSTICE EDUCATION (SJE)
The Department of Social Justice Education offers a multi- and interdisciplinary program that provides students with critical understandings of the social, historical, cultural, political, economic and ethical contexts of education, broadly conceived.
GO BEYOND YOUR TITLE — MAKE AN IMPACT

A degree from OISE is globally-respected; recognition that you’re seeking change and impact, not just a title. Whether you’re a teacher or a professional, OISE degrees offer a unique platform for expanding your horizons towards entirely new career and life opportunities.

MASTER OF EDUCATION (MEd)
The MEd degrees are ideal for the professional development of those already engaged in a career related to education. These programs offer flexible academic and professional learning opportunities.

DOCTOR OF EDUCATION (EdD)
The EdD degrees are optimal for the professional development of practitioners.

MASTER OF ARTS (MA)
The MA degrees are suitable for those who wish to pursue advanced study, research and analysis. Students interested in a research career or completing doctoral studies typically undertake MA programs.

DOCTOR OF PHILOSOPHY (PhD)
The PhD degrees are for those wishing to pursue advanced study, conduct original research and contribute to the advancement of knowledge.

MASTER OF TEACHING (MT)
The MT degree combines teacher qualification with advanced study of educational theory and the opportunity to conduct research.

*Note: These tables show the cost of tuition and fees for one year of study. The minimum cost of a master’s program is based on the official full-time program length, which is listed on our website. Completing your program faster than the specified program length could result in paying a balance of degree fee that rounds out the minimum cost. Fees in future years may be higher.

Since Fall 2018, international OISE PhD students pay domestic tuition rates. International students are still required to pay UHIP. This new international tuition structure does not apply to any other OISE graduate programs.

Note: International tuition is set at a level that more closely reflects the true cost of educating students. The Ontario Government subsidizes domestic tuition with taxpayer funds.

Main application deadline is November 16. Note, some programs may remain open for applications until all spots are filled.

APPLY IN 5 EASY STEPS

1. CHOOSE YOUR PROGRAM
Browse through this viewbook or visit uoft.me/oiseprograms.

You can select up to three OISE programs in a single application.

2. REVIEW ADMISSION REQUIREMENTS
Admission is competitive and requirements vary from program to program. Check specific requirements for your program of choice: uoft.me/oiserequirements.

Additional information for international applicants is available: uoft.me/oiseinternationalapplicant.

3. PREPARE SUPPORTING DOCUMENTS
Start your application at uoft.me/oiseadmissions.
Begin preparing well before the November 16 deadline to ensure your application and supporting documents are ready.

4. APPLY VIA THE ONLINE ADMISSIONS APPLICATION
Enter all required information via the online admissions application (apply.sgs.utoronto.ca) and pay the non-refundable application fee ($225).

5. SUBMIT SUPPORTING DOCUMENTS
Supporting documents include: transcripts, letters of reference, résumé and statement of intent. Some programs have additional required supporting documents. One single set of supporting documents is required even if you’ve selected multiple OISE programs.

The document deadline is November 16. If you apply after November 16, the deadline is seven business days after you have completed the online admissions application and must include payment.
